The HUNGARIAN Store

Don and Liz

Welcome! Isten hozott!

We love helping you find new ways to discover, celebrate, and share Hungarian heritage!

When my ancestors left Hungary 100 years ago they imprinted their love for their ethnic heritage in each generation. My parents, Elmer and Elizabeth, met and fell in love, and they each brought that same passion into their new union. Throughout their lives they were involved in all sorts of endeavors that had a Hungarian connection. After my father died, my mother continued to provide a variety of ways for her family to connect with their Hungarian ancestry. We are thankful she was so determined to help us see the beauty of our heritage through food, music, history, folk tales, travel, and language. In 1988, my mom had a vision to help even more people stay connected with their heritage, and so Magyar Marketing was born. It's hard to believe this endeavor has weathered the test of time and has been around for over 36 years! While some things have changed, like our name, many things have stayed the same. As the years progress, I have found it is even more important to encourage others to maintain or, in some cases, restart the Hungarian traditions that may have fallen by the wayside. I see Hungarian traditions coming through in our children and our grandchildren, and I hear similar stories from many of you.

HUNGARIAN LIVING

For information on upcoming Hungarian events around the United States, encouragement as you seek to share Hungarian heritage with the next generation, delicious recipes, and the first look at our new offerings, visit HungarianLiving.com and sign up for our monthly e-newsletter!

We know it isn't always easy to get family members excited about their heritage. But, if we continue to share things a little bit at a time, they begin to take root. It's true, the busyness of life sometimes takes over and might overshadow the excitement about ancestral traditions for a time. Don't give up hope! Even the tiniest, seemingly unimportant efforts can make an impact. Maybe this is the year you spend the time teaching a niece or nephew to make dumplings for chicken paprikás. Or maybe you grab a cousin or two and decide to bake the Hungarian cookie or pastry your grandmother always made during the Christmas holidays. If you like to embroider, maybe this is the year to try a Hungarian pattern! Take advantage of the various resources at HungarianLiving.com and learn about Hungarian folk art, history, language, and genealogy.

Our podcast is another wonderful way to learn about Hungarian history, language, genealogy, foods, etc. We interview a variety of authors and business owners, share folk tales, and offer travel and genealogy tips. You can find the Hungarian Living podcast on your favorite podcast app or you can listen to it on our website www.HungarianLiving.com. You can also listen and subscribe on our YouTube channel by visiting YouTube.com/HungarianLiving.

Want to make a deeper connection to your heritage? This year, as an extension of Hungarian Living, we launched a new project, The Hungarian Living Community. In this online community we provide even more ways for you discover, celebrate, and share Hungarian heritage. Check out the details on pages 6 and 7 of this catalog and join us! Passing on our Hungarian heritage can sometimes be a challenge - let's do this important work side-by-side in The Hungarian Living Community!

The HUNGARIAN LIVING Community

Do you have family history projects lingering on your to-do list? The stories, memories, and connections you uncover are a priceless gift to future generations. If you have ever felt like the sole guardian of your Hungarian heritage, I promise, you're not alone. But it can feel very isolating if you aren't a part of an active Hungarian community or if you live far from your roots. There are other folks out there, committed to keeping our ancestral heritage alive. Our private online community is a group of like-minded individuals who share this passion!

Join TheHungarianLivingCommunity.com and ensure meaningful traditions and family history get passed down through the generations. We provide tools, resources, inspiration, and encouragement as you rediscover traditions that may have been lost along the way and document your family story so it is treasured and celebrated!

For an annual fee of $360, you'll have an entire year of access to our learning materials, engaging online community chats, and exclusive workshops. And, you'll become a part of a warm and welcoming environment where you can immerse yourself in Hungarian heritage in a variety of ways. The language of the community is English.

What should I expect from this community?

Resource Library

Each month we add new resources to the community. You'll find language games, folk art coloring pages, history snippets, journal prompts, regional information, travel tips, genealogy information, & more.

Community Chats

Several times each month we host online chats where members can meet one another. We have breakout sessions on a variety of topics so we can connect and ask questions and share ideas.

Monthly Focus

We focus on either Food, Genealogy, Folk Art, Language, Traditions, or Travel each month and have a featured workshop or resource to highlight that topic.

Weekly News

Our weekly news lets you know what is happening in the community for the week and any new resources that have become available. Look for our Discussion of the Week question and chime in!

Special Opportunities

We have a Book Club, if reading is your thing. We are starting a Film Club, too. Interested in heritage foods? We are incorporating special opportunities for that, as well. All clubs, events and workshops that happen within the membership are included with your membership fee and will not have an additional charge.

Join The Hungarian Living Community!

Folk Art & Music

There is so much to learn about folk art regions, folk instruments, and folk music. Check out the great information already in the membership. New resources are added each month and we'll have special workshops as well!

Food

Need some motivation to bring back a few heritage foods into your kitchen? I know, I do, too. Our discussions and resources cover a wide range of food related topics from gardening to preserving to cooking to baking. Looking for tips and tricks? We have them. I know we will inspire one another with our recipes. And, someday, maybe we can meet for coffee and sample one another's creations!

Language

Learning Hungarian is a fun challenge. Each month new language games are added to the membership. We also share a variety of resources in our library that will help you on your Hungarian language learning journey!

Genealogy & History

History is really fascinating. And, of course, it is tied to your family story. Let's dig into genealogy and understand more about how it fits with the bigger picture. Share your progress and trouble spots as you research. Looking to get started on writing down some things about your family story? Join the folks in the community who are working on that, too. Let's cheer one another on!

Hungarians in the United States

Special Feature: Delray, Michigan

For Hungarians, the main area of settlement in Michigan was an area of Detroit known as Delray. Delray was an independent village until it was annexed by Detroit in 1906 and is located in the southwest area of Detroit on the banks of the Detroit River and Rouge River. Beginning in the late 1880s, Hungarians began arriving in Delray because of the job opportunities offered by various factories such as Solvay Processing, Michigan Malleable Iron Company as well as many others.

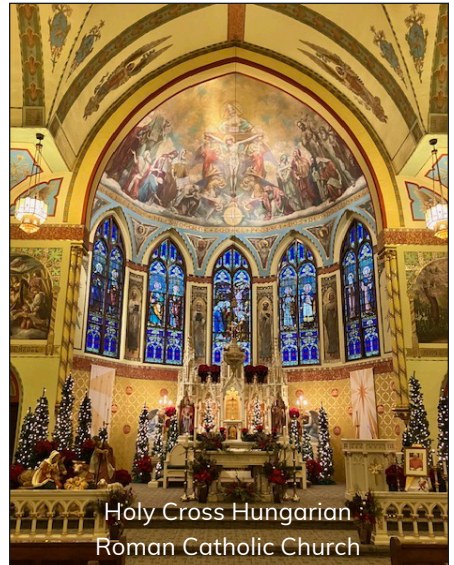

Soon Hungarians began building places of worship such as Holy Cross Hungarian Roman Catholic Church (which is still in Delray and has an active congregation), First Hungarian Reformed Church, St John the Baptist Hungarian Byzantine Catholic Church, the First Hungarian Lutheran Church, First Hungarian Baptist Church, the Synagogue of the Hebrew Congregation of Delray and the Hungarian Pentecostal Church. Delray also had many Hungarian businesses such as shops, markets, theaters, bars and restaurants.

By the 1920 census, there were 22,293 Hungarian-Americans in Detroit, with most of them living in the Delray area. (13,564 foreign born and 8,729 of their children). Detroit was the 4th largest Hungarian settlement in the US after New York, Cleveland and Chicago.

The state of Michigan has had six waves of emigration from Hungary between 1880 and the early 2000s. According to the 2018 American Community Survey, Michigan has 89,785 Americans claiming Hungarian descent.

Over the years, Hungarians and their children began spreading out to the suburbs of Detroit such as River Rouge, Ecorse, Melvindale, Taylor, Lincoln Park, Allen Park, Dearborn, Southgate, Wyandotte, Trenton and many other communities in Metro Detroit. The Hungarian community of Metro Detroit is still very active: Hungarian-American Cultural Center (Taylor), Holy Cross Hungarian Roman Catholic Church (Delray/Detroit), Hungarian Reformed Church (Allen Park), The Rhapsody Hungarian Restaurant (Southgate), Hungarian Strudel Shop (Allen Park), the Hungarian Arts Club, Return to Old Delray/Old Detroit Facebook page and others.

Wild Raw Acacia Honey

Imported from Hungary. No hive antibiotics!
8 oz. [SAH $13]
16 oz. [LAH $22]

Palacsinta - Hungarian crepes

1 cup flour	pinch of salt
2 large eggs	2/3 – 1 cup soda water
1/3 cup milk	1/3 cup butter, melted and cooled

This is our basic recipe. It all depends on the size of your eggs and you should plan to adjust the recipe because you need to get a very thin batter. We slowly add the wet ingredients with the dry and mix with a whisk. Some instructions recommend letting the batter rest for an hour before using, but we are often too hungry to wait that long.

1/4 cup of batter should be enough to cover the bottom of a 10 inch pan. These are very thin! If you don't have a crêpe pan, you can use any kind of pan - even a cast iron skillet! It might take about 3-4 tries to get the hang of it. Be gentle with yourself until you get the hang of it. Even the mistakes are tasty so have fun with the process!

There are many variations for this recipe. Use the one that works for your life! Fill with jams, cocoa powder, or even with savory fillings. Once you get the hang of making them you will wonder why you took so long to give them a try!

Special Gifts

Hand-painted Coins from Hungary These Hungarian coins are beautifully hand-painted to accent the designs. Variations in coins are based on the year minted. All enamels are mixed by hand at the moment of application so each item is truly an original. Colors will vary. Each pendant includes an 18 inch gold-tone chain. Shipping included.
