The HUNGARIAN Store

Rhett, Liz, Sloane, Don, and Margot

Welcome! Isten hozott!

Do you have questions you wish you would have asked when the people around could give you the answers? Me, too! I have so many things I should have asked my mom. She had so much information to share, but I didn't even think to ask her any of the questions that now run through my mind. So let's help the next generation who are often, like us – living their life and not even contemplating the questions that can be asked (and answered) until it is a little late in the game.

Thankfully, we can do a little research and get some information about previous generations. We can also start sharing more of our own stories now. If you have memories of parents and grandparents, aunts, uncles, and cousins, start telling the stories at family gatherings or at least write a few down. What you know about your family is important, especially if it is first-hand knowledge.

Enjoy looking through this issue of our catalog and visit TheHungarianStore.com for more products.

My great-grandmother,
Clara, and my grandmother, Clara emailed these photos to Erika, she was able to quickly identify nearly all of the people. They were her grandmother and great aunts and uncles. That was pretty amazing. In 2012, Don and I traveled to Hungary with our children. We were

Erika and Margit

Prior to 2011, I had no idea we had living relatives in Hungary. It all started when Margit, my dad's first cousin, read through the letters she had from her mother's aunt (my great grandmother) and cousin (my grandmother).

Margit asked her daughter, Erika, to see if she could find out what happened to these relatives who went to the United States. These letters held enough clues for them to track down my uncle (my father's brother) because they had his name, his profession, and he was still alive. My dad and other uncle had already passed away and were not as traceable.

After a few emails back and forth, the best confirmation we had about this connection came from a pile of photos my grandmother had saved for many years. Once we able to meet Margitnéni and several of her sisters: all first cousins of my grandmother. My grandmother never met them in person, but we were privileged to do so. And we met so many, many other precious family members.

We are so thankful that Margit and Erika found a way to reconnect the family. It's been such a blessing!

Folk Art Experiences

Culinary Experiences

A free online event celebrating
Hungarian heritage and culture!
Coming up in March and August 2025!

Make a deeper connection with your Hungarian heritage by taking part in our Hungarian Heritage Expo!

At the Hungarian Heritage Expo we...

- Encourage a deeper dive into Hungarian culture!
- Connect with others to hear their stories!
- Learn about a variety of topics relating to Hungarian heritage!
- Discover more ways to pass on the rich Hungarian culture to the next generation!

Our first expo in July 2024 offered 30+ presentations over the course of four days. We heard from several authors as well as a variety of genealogy, folk art, history, language, cooking, and cultural presentations.

Here are a few thoughts from our attendees:

"The Hungarian Heritage Expo was a fun way to dig deeper into my culture and learn more about the history, food, folk art, music, dance, and many other topics. I enjoyed the variety of speakers and appreciated the perspective each one brought."

"Just wanted to tell you how much I enjoyed your Hungarian Heritage Expo. Both my sister and I watched every day and discussed every evening - she in Oakland, CA and I in Naples, FL."

The Hungarian Heritage Expo is free and entirely online. So, wherever you live, you can join in on the fun. The Expo is specifically designed for those with Hungarian heritage, no matter the percentage. The goal is to inspire attendees with great information and inspiration to dive in and learn more. And then, of course, to share what is learned with others. All sessions are in English.

The HUNGARIAN LIVING Community

We share your passion for preserving and sharing Hungarian heritage and culture and we have created a unique place where you can be encouraged and equipped to share your heritage more intentionally with those around you!

“The community you have brought together enriches my understanding of Hungarian life in America and in Hungary.” ~ Barbara S., CA

When our families left Hungary, they carried with them what they could, but they could not avoid leaving some things behind. In their new communities, they worked hard to learn the new language and provide for their families as well as share their cultural heritage. But there were some trade offs. Unless we are intentional about learning more about our cultural heritage and passing it on, each generation will feel more distant from it.

The Hungarian Living Community provides a variety of learning opportunities and fun, meaningful connections so together we can carry share our beautiful heritage with the next generation!

Your 12 month subscription grants you access to our growing resource library, engaging online community chats, and the opportunity to participate in a monthly online workshop/class covering language, cooking, baking, folk art, history, and more. The value of just the monthly classes alone for an entire year is $360. Become a part of a warm and welcoming environment where you can learn about your Hungarian heritage, ask questions, and be encouraged and inspired to pass it on within your family. The language of The Hungarian Living Community is English.

“The Hungarian Store and The Hungarian Living Community have been a part of my life for years. I love their learning opportunities - the Magyar language, history, and cooking classes are wonderful. Through them I took a dream-of-a-lifetime trip to Hungary last fall. The friends I made there and in my classes I will keep for life.”
~ Clara G., SC

Hungarians in the United States

Special Feature: Toledo, Ohio

Toledo's Birmingham neighborhood began to develop in the 1890s with the steel, oil refining, and shipbuilding industries attracting workers from Hungary, Slovakia and Italy. Many young men and families, mostly from rural areas of Hungary, came to work in the thriving industries. The majority came from the counties of Abauj and Heves.

The last major wave of Hungarians arrived after the 1956 Revolution, when 300 individuals and families came to Toledo, sponsored by area churches and families. This influx of more urban Hungarians provided new leadership and energy to this neighborhood, resulting in increased cultural activities and a new sense of preservation of the physical community.

While few Hungarians or descendants currently live in Birmingham, many more live in the region and return regularly. Most of them do not speak Hungarian but are interested in learning about their heritage and supporting Birmingham activities. These events are hosted by The Hungarian Club of Toledo (monthly brunches, special events including Independence Day and 1956 Revolution Commemorations) and Calvin United Church of Christ (Hungarian Embroidery Club, Lorantffy group makes noodles, kolbász, pastries, etc.) and others.

For many years the Birmingham Ethnic Festival was held yearly, pre-Covid. In August 2024, a "Hungarian Food Fest" was organized to celebrate Birmingham's history and contributions and was an overwhelming success! The Toledo-Szeged Sister City relationship (since 1990) has provided educational and cultural exchanges, and through the university relationships we have young professionals (and families) who have moved to Toledo.

Our community continues to work together. We are committed to preserving and passing on our Hungarian culture, identity, and history to the next generation. As the older generation passes away and churches and Hungarian businesses close this is more important than ever. This is the challenge we face together.

The Hungarian spirit is alive and well in Toledo's Birmingham Neighborhood!

Special thanks to Elizabeth Balint and Peter Ujvagi for compiling this information.

Want to learn more about Hungarian heritage and culture? Take a class!

We offer a nice selection of online classes and workshops all year long on a variety of topics relating to Hungarian heritage and culture. Dumplings - Nokedli - Spaetzle for paprikás, gulyás, soups or as a side

2 1/2 cups flour 2 tsp salt
3 large eggs, beaten 1/2+ cup water

Place flour in large bowl, make 'well'. Add 1 tsp. salt, eggs and water. Beat until batter is smooth but not runny. You can make adjustments as you need to as all eggs have a slight variation.

In large pot, boil 6 cups of water and the other 1 tsp salt. Place dough on a plate and use a knife to cut small pieces and add to the boiling water. Or, if using a dumpling maker, place over pot of boiling water and use the scraper to push batter through holes to drop into boiling water. Cook 10 minutes. Drain and rinse. Serves 6. Dumplings can be made a day or two ahead of time and then reheated.

To freeze: make dumplings, drain, and cool. Cover a jellyroll pan with wax paper and spread out dumplings. Put in freezer until frozen and then put them into a freezer bag. Drop them in boiling water for a few minutes when you need them!
